HE LIKES DAYTONA

Col. J. N. Bradshaw, Clerk of the Criminal Court of Orange County, was a guest at the Clarendon Inn this week. He is Colonel of the Second Regiment, Florida State troops, of which the Halifax Rifles is a part.

Monday, J. W. Wilkinson was introduced to Col. Bradshaw by the soldiers and sailors of Daytona, and the Colonel expressed himself as much impressed with the town and people.

Col. Bradshaw thinks the next encampment will be the greatest in the history of the Florida militia, and looks forward to it with much interest and hopefulness.

The Halifax Rifles had their usual fortnightly ball at the Armory Tuesday night. As usual, there was a large attendance and an enjoyable time.

They keep these balls up through the summer, there will likely be "something doing" in the matrimonial line next fall, for it is at these functions the many pretty girls of Daytona display their charms and graces to best advantage, and the heart of a soldier, says Thackeray, "is easiest caught in the maze of the dance."

We have just received two bales of Riverside plants and homespun checks, which are good values for the money. J. A. Hendricks.

Mr. D. S. Peck, whom the Gazette News follows to Hayward, Wisconsin, sends us a copy of the Hayward Enterprise, a neat 8 page, 6-column weekly newspaper. It copied our account of the Peck Golden Wedding, and contains a lengthy interview with Mr. Peck concerning Daytona and Florida, which we will give space next week.

Don't forget to get your bathing suit at J. A. Hendricks if you want the best value for your money.

DISAPPOINTED LOVERS

It has been said that everybody loves a lover, and certainly most people sympathize with disappointed lovers, for at some period in the life of every man and woman, love has been king, and passion has had its sway.

Ever since the days when it was always summer in Eden, down to these strenuous times when it is mostly winter in the aspirations of some of us, the mind of man has run the one way—the way of the love of woman. It begins with us all when we are in our teens and ends with the smudging out of the vital spark of life.

This human bent of inclination does not belong to man alone. It is a part, too, of the life of every woman. Hardly a girl past fifteen years lives in the world today who has not felt the divine thrill of love, and her first seems her greatest and most hopeless trial when it is crossed or unrequited.

There was a sad case of "crossed in love" brought to light here last Monday. A boy of 17 and a girl of 16 arrived here from Jacksonville on the excursion. They were desperately in love with each other. To them the horizon of other lives seemed narrow and aimless compared with the joys of the boyhood they had spent on the steam cars rolled them on toward Daytona.

In their minds they saw the solemn pastor, standing with the book in front of them. They heard his soft words making them one in bone and flesh, and in their hearts they felt the thrill of the first burning kisses of a fulfilled truth.

But they were doomed to sad and almost inconsolable disappointment. On reaching here and consulting friends they found it must not be. There was no license to be had here. DeLand, 23 miles away, they were told, was the nearest point where the necessary document to make them one could be obtained.

They went to the Dillingham Hotel, where Mrs. Dillingham took charge of the cross-fallen and lovelorn girl for the night, and next morning they took the northbound train for Jacksonville, determined to put their case again before their hitherto, orthodox parents. The young man said it was only a question of time when their marriage would take place.

The names of the young couples were Mr. Jones and Miss Lane. The young man is the son of a prominent merchant of Jacksonville, and the girl is of a splendid family. Their youth, the young man said, was the only point of objection urged by their parents.

DAYTONA'S CANDIDATE

The friends of Miss Ada Anderson have placed her name in the list of East Coast candidates for Lady Commissioner for the Times Union's Florida Exhibit at the St. Louis World's Fair next year.

Miss Anderson is the only daughter of G. E. Anderson, the early and evolution manufacturer who has recently erected a new building on Beach street, between Magnolia and Volusia avenues.

Though late in entering the race, we feel confident that Miss Anderson will poll a large vote, if she does not win. In addition to being one of Daytona's prettiest girls, she is an accomplished musician, a sweet singer, well educated, well read, modest, unassuming, and full of that graciousness and womanly grace of manner which always makes a pretty woman charming and popular.

Miss Anderson is the only candidate so far, from Volusia county, and we ought all to rally to her support for that reason, if for no other. Send your coupon for her direct to the Times Union, or to the Gazette News.

A NARROW ESCAPE

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Cox, of Jacksonville, were here Monday and Tuesday guests of "Squire" and Mrs. C. R. Cox. Early Tuesday morning they took a drive up the Ormond road and near Holly Hill they met Dr. H. H. Seelye in his automobile. Their horse took fright at the auto machine and ran away over turning the buggy.

Mrs. Cox was thrown against a rough Palmetto tree, severely lacerating her face and left arm. Mr. Cox fell across a log, slightly spraining his back. The horse took to the fields, reducing the buggy to kindling wood, the harness to shreds, and jumping two fences.
